Everybody's Talking!

No pain, no gain: Fathers-to-be who would like to know what their partners go through when giving birth can now attend a special pain clinic at a hospital in eastern China. Nurses at the Aima Maternity Hospital hook up electric shock pads to the abdomens of expectant dads that simulate labor pains. Wu Ningzing, general manger at the hospital, explains that the Pain Experience Camp, as it is called, helps men to understand what labor is all about, and, in turn, be more supportive of their wives. One husband, Wu Jianlong, had a hard time handling the pain, but claimed that it made him realize what women go through, often for many hours, before the baby arrives.

Happy ending: There was a happy ending to what could have been a tragedy for a father and his two young sons who got lost in Expedition National Park in Queensland, Australia. Steven Van Lonkhuyzen, along with Ethan, age 7, and Timothy, age 5, were on a long road trip when their vehicle got stuck in a bog. When they didn't arrive at their destination, Van Lonkhuyzen's wife reported them missing. As the area is so vast, police asked for the public's help. A farmer remembered seeing the family's vehicle and contacted authorities. They were soon discovered, hungry, but otherwise in good shape.

Alpaca pets: It has long been known that pet therapy helps to raise the spirits of people who are confined to hospitals. Pet therapy usually includes dogs and cats, but another animal has proven to be a good choice at an elderly care facility in Berlin, Germany. The Mana Wedell Tagespflege uses the services of a group of alpacas, which are related to the camel. The animals live in the facility's garden and are looked after by caretakers, who bring them into residents' rooms to be petted. These gentle mammals are vaccinated and trained for their important role of enhancing the lives of the seniors living in the home.

Pet rescue: A man in Sacramento, California (US), would not likely be alive today if not for the actions of Buddy, his beloved pet. Buddy, a chocolate Labrador retriever, turned out to be a true friend. Realizing the danger his master was in, Buddy went to the bedroom to nudge him awake. Roberto Padilla of the Sacramento Fire Department confirmed that the house did not have a smoke detector, so it is likely the man would have succumbed to smoke inhalation had it not been for Buddy. The house fire was severe enough to substantially damage the home.

Lucky numbers this week: This week's odds favor Libra winners, with the luckiest number being 6.

Did You Know...

Red stuff: Lots of cooks use paprika in their dishes for its red color and flavor. This spice is made from chili peppers. There are many different grades of paprika, including delicate, pungent, noble sweet, and strong.

Many islands: Micronesia, located in the Western Pacific Ocean north of Australia, is an area that includes about 2,100 islands. The four main island groups are the Caroline Islands, the Marshall Islands, the Gilbert Islands, and the Mariana Islands.

Smart mammal: The beaver is a smart animal able to manipulate its environment to suit its needs. For example, a beaver dam protects the animal's den from predators, while allowing underwater access.

Viking raid: The Vikings, those well-known pirates from the Scandinavian countries, were keen herders who also fished and farmed. The Viking Age was between about 800 and 1000 AD when raids on other countries occurred.

Expensive suit: In the 1939 version of the movie, "The Wizard of Oz," American actor Bert Lahr portrayed the Cowardly Lion. The costume he wore in that film sold at an auction in New York City for more than $3 million (US).

On the Lighter Side

What is green and jumps a lot? A frog with hiccups.

How do porcupines play leapfrog? Very carefully.

During a grammar class, the teacher spots one of her pupils staring out the window. "Hey, Peter!" she shouts, "Give me two pronouns." Peter answers, "Who? Me?"

People who say it cannot be done are often interrupted by the person doing it.

What has two hands, a big round face, always runs but stays in place? A clock.
