

SUSANNA ALTUNYAN

In sixth grade, Susanna Altunyan joined the Eighth Cultural Guild of Nor-Aresh, Yerevan; where she participated in poetry and acting. Being talented, she also took part in many concerts in Yerevan and the surrounding cities. During many of the events, she was awarded certificates and letters of congratulations. In eighth grade she joined Yerevans Lusashxe Cultural Theater as a beginning actress. In 1974 she was invited to Yerevans Cultural Theater of Jokes and Humor directed by lead Producer Karpis Feschyan. Commended for my talent, she was requested to partake in an assortment of different theatrical plays. Furthermore, she was accepted in the University of Education, majoring as theatrical and movie producer; lead by movie producer Jirayr Avetisyan. Being a very active student, she took part in numerous end-of-semester assembly productions, which in turn awarded her the respect of all of her classmates and professors. In 1983 she got married and moved to Kirovakan, Armenia, and then, along with her family, in 1995 she moved to the United States of America where she continued to pursue my profession. She was the hostess of Ay, Ay, Ay children's television program and also partook in theatrical plays and puppet shows. Now she has originated the idea of T.A.M. Cultural Productions, directed by Grigor Altunyan.
